Audit Findings

Audit Narrative

This audit was conducted on Appalachian Youth Services (Agency) a youth residential facility located in Ebensburg, Pennsylvania. Agency is a Non-Profit youth center holding 13 male youthful clients. Prior to the on-site portion of the audit, the Agency supplied this Auditor with a complete list of staff, residents, contractors and volunteers at the facility as well as a sample of documents, policies, and necessary forms. I was able to utilize these samples to establish a baseline for the on-site portion of the audit and also to look at necessary staff and residents to conduct interviews with.

The items requested consist of the following:

Pre-Audit Phase:

Discovery – Prior to the On-site audit, the Agency supplied this Auditor with the following documentation was requested and received from the agency:

- 1) The completed Pre-Audit Questionnaire
- 2) A complete employee roster including:
 - a. Agency Director
 - b. PREA Coordinator and Compliance Manager
 - c. Specialized staff (medical, mental health, training, intake staff, first responders, investigators, HR staff)
 - d. Contractors/Volunteers
- 3) Resident Roster including:
 - a. Those Identifying as LGBTI (if any)
 - b. Those in Segregation (if any)
 - c. Those reporting any sexual abuse or victimization upon admission
 - d. Any with disabilities
- 4) Any grievances and incidents filed in the last 12 months
- 5) Any sexual abuse/harassment incidents reported including alleged, substantiated, unsubstantiated, and/or unfounded over the last year and investigating related to them. (This includes but is not limited to hotline calls, those reported to staff, 3rd party reporting, etc.)
- 6) Multiple documents including policies and procedures for the facility including, but not limited to the following:
 - a. Zero-tolerance policy
 - b. Employee Training
 - c. Resident education and screening
 - d. Facility layout
 - e. Operations policies and PREA-related policies
 - f. Staffing policy

Prior to the on-site portion of this audit, I had the ability to review all documentation provided and had an open line of communication with the Facility Director and PREA Coordinator to have any questions answered. Audit notices were provided to the facility 6 weeks out and were posted with documentation provided showing their placement.

The On-site portion of the audit was completed on December 13-14, 2018. Upon arrival, I was met by the Facility Director and Case Manager who is transitioning to be their new PREA Coordinator. We met at their Administrative/School building then proceeded to the Ross House for the beginning phase of the audit. The Ross House is their residential housing unit consisting of bedrooms, single bathrooms, TV watching area, and large dayroom/dining hall with an open kitchen attached. The facility was vacant as all the boys in their program were at class in the other building. It was in the dayroom where we conducted our initial meeting, questions and answer, and document review. We would only need to occupy this area for the initial morning, then I was provided with a lockable conference room at the Admin/School building where all staff and resident interviews would occur over the next 2 days.

We began the audit with a walk-through of the Ross house facility which is their only residential facility. It is one of three (3) single-story building on the rural location just outside of the Borough of Ebensburg, Pennsylvania. Upon entering the grounds, the Administrative/classroom building sites to your immediate left with the main parking lot to its front. Approximately 50 yards down to the right sits two housing units, the Ross House on the Left and an unused housing unit on the right. There is an outside grass area and a basketball hoop.

Following the Ross House tour, I again sat down with the Program Director who also serves as their PREA Coordinator and a Case Worker whom is transitioning to the PREA Coordinator role to go over the PREA Compliance Audit Tool, Checklist. The agency is licensed yearly through the Pennsylvania Department of Human Services, with the ability to hold up to 14 male youthful residents. They are a non-locking (secure) facility holding those male youth under court order for Children and Youth Services and Juvenile Probation clients from multiple counties throughout Pennsylvania. As indicated, although a residential juvenile facility, they are non-secure allowing the residents to walk back and forth to their educational building and some had outside privileges as part of their step-down program. With the unique operations of the facility, it was noted that they have policies in place to address Residents with Disabilities, however have not had placement due to their small nature and operations.

Following our meeting and Compliance Tool review, we moved to the Administrative/Classroom facility. I was provided with a lockable private office to conduct where I had the opportunity to interview staff members and residents that I selected for interview. On the afternoon of the first day, I began interviewing security staff whom were also first responders, their facility therapist, intake staff, Assistant Director, Director and PREA-assigned personnel using the DOJ PREA staff and specialized personnel interview criteria. I also had questioned a few questions specifically regarding their agency and the unique nature of their operations. 12 staff members were selected covering all 3 shifts (7 to 3, 3 to 11, and 11 to 7). I was also able to reach out and conduct and interview with the local township Police Chief responsible for investigations at the facility.

Beginning on Day 2, I began with some remaining staff interviews and then moved into resident interviews utilizing the DOJ PREA questions for Juvenile Residents. All residents were interviewed and ranged in ages from 10 to 19. Some had been at the facility for a year, some with a few months, and one new resident whom had only been their for the past 2 months. Through questions I also learned that all those I interviewed were from various counties across Pennsylvania from Pittsburgh and points west to eastern areas including Philadelphia. I would like to note that the facility has not had any reported or alleged incidents in the past 12+ month nor any reported incidents from residents transferred from other facilities. One resident was noted as reporting English as a second language, however during our interview he spoke and read fluent English. There were no residents with disabilities and the agency has not had anyone for the past 12+ months but did have policy on addressing their needs.

The staff and resident interviews moved along very well and timely. I did find in both cases, all were versed in the agencies zero-tolerance policy, reporting requirements, and maintaining a sexual abuse and harassment-free environment. Staff-specific interviews revealed understanding of the zero-tolerance policy and complete relation to the operation of the facility, as their understanding of operations, state requirements and policies

Facility Characteristics

As noted, Appalachian Youth Services is a stand-alone agency with one residential facility in Rural Pennsylvania. The only housing unit, the Ross House is an all-male juvenile facility. Ranch-style one-story housing unit with an entrance door on the left side, entering a hallway, lined with 14 single bedrooms and three single-use bathrooms positioned in the hallway with the bedrooms. Further down the hallway on the right side was a mid-size TV room that has a specific lounge seat for all residents to have their own assigned seat. At the end of the hall to the right was a dining area with open to the kitchen further down on the right. To the left was an expanded day area with another resident bathroom. The layout of the dayroom/dining/kitchen area was very open and had a locked supervisor's area directly off it with camera monitors. The open flow of the day area and hallway provided optimized direct-site view to staff whom are placed strategically throughout the hallway and day area. The kitchen and dining area allowed staff to monitor activities and meals with ease. The other 2 bathrooms are located in the hallway along with the resident rooms. They are the only area where the residents can change, are one-occupancy facilities with shower, toilet, and sink with non-locking door. Bathrooms were staff-controlled for use and as indicated only used by one person at a time. This was reiterated both with staff and residents during my interviews. It was noted that there are multiple bulletin boards throughout the facility displaying zero-tolerance policy information as well as PREA resources in both English and Spanish. Each resident has the ability to make their room their own, and numerous drawings were noted making for a comfortable environment for them. On the exterior, there is recreation area, with a grass area adjacent to the facility and a basketball court area off the parking lot. The Ross House was equipped with a new camera system with stationary cameras in the hallways and all common areas. The system was monitored from the Directors and Supervisors office and was used for safety and reviews but not in lieu of physical staff. Directly across from the Ross House is another housing facility, but it was "mothballed" several years ago and not presently included in their licensing for housing. The housing unit design along with the agencies staffing and operational policies work well. The open common areas allow for good staff view, and the bedroom and bathroom locations, along with hallway staffing provide for the necessary privacy and review of residents.

While touring the Administrative/Classroom building, it was located on the upper part of the property near the entrance to the facility grounds. It also was ranch-style one level building with a direct center door access entering the middle of the building. This facility had a common center hallway with administrative/counseling/group offices and rooms located on the front, with a series of classrooms located on the rear of the facility. Staff lined the hallways as the residents were in class. The agency also contracts with the local school districts for "Alternative schooling" and has a few bused in daily for schooling. As noted in the Ross House, this building had multiple bulletin boards with necessary PREA related documentations posted throughout. This building like the Ross House has been upgraded with stationary cameras throughout the common hallways and is monitored via the Directors and Supervisors offices. It is by all designs a school building, having classrooms, meeting areas, and administrative offices. This is where contracted teachers employed through the Intermediate Unit 8 are housed and conduct schooling programs daily for the residents under the supervision of agency staff. These teachers are all versed in PREA and have undergone mandatory training the facility holds for all contractors. It should be noted that all teachers under Pennsylvania standards are mandated reporters and were able to vocalize that in relation to their duties and also the PREA standards.

Both buildings utilized by the agency are well maintained and present a positive environment for the residents within. The design, while simple offers open concepts allowing staff visibility while also providing resident privacy while using bathrooms and shower facilities. With staff post locations, blind spots are lessened and line of site is increased.

Summary of Audit Findings

Over the past 12 months Appalachian Youth Services has not had any allegation of sexual abuse or sexual harassment reported. Along with that, there have not been any criminal or administrative investigations conducted.

During staff interview they all were able to articulate their knowledge of the PREA standards and their application at that facility. They all indicated their experience with PREA training and were able to explain the agency's zero-tolerance policy and how it applied. They could explain their roles as mandated reporter's and all were able to give examples of how they or residents could report any allegation of sexual abuse or harassment. Those in first responder roles were able to explain their responsibilities and were able to effectively go through a scenario presented to handling the incident through PREA standards. In discussion with the Executive Director Rhonda Benner, I know they, like many other agencies have difficulty maintaining staff levels, but that wasn't seen during staff interviews. From the senior to new staff, all were able to verbalize their duties under the PREA standards.

Like staff interviews, residents were able to verbalize the agency's zero-tolerance policy and how it related to them. They indicated that they received information on the zero-tolerance policy at their initial admission as well as in group sessions over their stay at the facility. They were able to also explain the process for reporting an incident of sexual abuse or harassment, including calling via the hotline to DHS or through a grievance-type reporting form that were readily available. Some of the residents carried "trapper-keeper" type binders with their school works and retrieved copies of the form they kept with them in their documents. The agency completes their PREA orientation through a packet at intake as well as what was termed as continued education. Residents were able to explain the packet and what was taught to them. Some also provide their personal copy to this auditor while being interviewed.

In closing, Appalachian Youth Service is working well within the PREA standards. Throughout my document review, walk-through, and interviews with residents and staff they are very aware of the standards and have adapted operations, training, and resident management to make the facility PREA compliant. It was clearly seen and verbalized that the management and staff of the facility are concerned with the residents' wellbeing and assuring they are in a safe environment.

Auditor Note: No standard should be found to be "Not Applicable" or "NA". A compliance determination must be made for each standard.

Instructions for Overall Compliance Determination Narrative

The agency has a zero-tolerance policy that has been written to meet PREA Standards. Their PREA Policy encompasses the Juvenile Standards addressing facility-specific issues of scope of their work. The agency Facility Director serves as the PREA Coordinator. Although not required, the agencies Assistant Program Manager serves as the PREA Compliance Manager for their program, and both have an active hand in the training of staff and intake of residents to assure all are aware of the zero-tolerance policy.

Their overall mission statement for the facility is, “helping kids help themselves” and addresses a abuse-free environment. I did notice this throughout their training documentation as well. The staff training documents provided to me indicated initial training and continued education for all staff in zero-tolerance. There were multiple forms for tracking to assure staff were in compliance including handouts, and sign-in sheets for training.

The policy goes on to address the intake procedure for residents including direct discussion with them on an sexual abuse/harassment-free environment. I was provided with an orientation packet that is given to each resident upon intake. Documents also show that the agency tracks the timeframe of the orientation as well as required and timely follow up with the residents.

While on-site, the agency has their zero-tolerance policy posted throughout both the Ross house and the classroom building in direct view of all staff, residents, and any visitor coming to the facility. During my staff interviews, all staff were able to explain what the zero-tolerance policy, explaining the training they receive, and how it applied to the facility and the safety of the residents housed there.

During resident interviews they all were able to verbalize what the zero-tolerance policy was, what training they received, and how it applied to them. They knew the policy was placed throughout the buildings and many remarked that if the policy was not followed they would have the ability to report it the DHS. There was additional discussion on continued education on zero-tolerance indicating that they discuss it during their group therapy sessions as some of them came from abusive backgrounds.

Instructions for Overall Compliance Determination Narrative

Unit 1, Chapter 3 of the AYS Policy Manual refers to the agencies policy and adopted staffing plan that is consistent with PREA requirements as well as those requirements set by Pennsylvania Department of Human Services licensing requirements. They have maintained a 1:8 ratio on waking yours and a 1;16 ratio throughout the sleeping hours. During review of documents and onsite discussion, they operate with a higher than required staffing ratio than required.

It was also noted in document review that no new employees are counted in this ratio, referred to as "Unclear" and not counted in the staffing number until the initial training and mentoring phase is complete. They have implemented the 11 requirements per standard and an annual review of staffing plans are completed by the PREA Coordinator. Throughout out document review, the agency has developed staffing protocols mandating extra staff for any activity onsite or off, as well as during classroom hours. Many of the non-security staff such as the therapist and Maintenance worker have been cross trained in security, however are only used should there be an emergency or exigent circumstance.

As noted, there are new cameras and monitoring system throughout the facilities. They have been placed in areas to assure blind spot control, however it is noted in their policies and while onsite that they utilize staff as to what they call "eyeballing" each and every resident in the day rooms, laundry facility, and kitchen area.

AYS referenced a code of "Red Ants" in their policies and this was also verified through staff interviews that refers to assuring mandatory staffing minimums. The "Red Ant" code refers to having three (3) supervisors designated as on-call 24/7 that should the facility have an emergency or a staffing breakdown, they will immediately respond to assure minimum staffing is being met. This is done on a rotating basis with all supervisors and managers.

Under Section 115.113 (b), the agency is considered not applicable, as they have met staffing standards and are mandated under DHS to meet at all times so an exigent plan is not necessary.

As defined, they are a non-secure facility, and do have residents whom can achieve “privileges” to have more free time. They are permitted to go outside the facility but must check in with staff and are only permitted to do so during specific staffing periods. When onsite, I had the opportunity to ask questions on this. Staff stated they are monitored directly or via camera and a resident having these privileges stated staff were always there when he went outside.

Unannounced Rounds – Procedure exists indicating that the PREA Compliance manager will make unannounced rounds throughout the facility. It spells out specifics as to covering various days and shifts. Documents provided showed that these rounds are logged by both the compliance manager and facility supervisors as well. When reviewing logs before and onsite, they have no patterns in place and are conducting the rounds at various times on all shifts. During my interviews with staff, management, and residents alike, they all could provide information that supervisors do make unannounced rounds often at the facility.

Instructions for Overall Compliance Determination Narrative

AYS does NOT conduct pat or strip searches of those residing at their facility. The agency has policy in place for showering and changing, requiring all residents to be clothed when out of the bathroom. This policy was evident when interviewing both staff and residents. Several of the residents were very adamant about the strict policy of being clothed when out of the bathroom area. The same was true for those allowed in the bathroom, strict policy only allowed one resident in a bathroom at a time. Although it is an all-male facility, there are cross-gender supervision by female staff. All female staff must announce their entering on the housing unit and all residents interviewed indicated this does occur. Those interviewed indicated that gender identity was discussed upon intake and at update interviews throughout their stay.
